

No matter where your communication career takes you...

IABC has the resources to help you advance while you are attending school and after you graduate. IABC student members represent diverse cultural/ethnic backgrounds and include students pursuing degrees in mass communication, organizational communication, journalism, advertising, visual communication, marketing and public relations.

As an IABC member, you will be able to keep up with trends and issues affecting communication while you are still in school and have a better opportunity for “the right job” after graduation.

Join IABC/ Cleveland

*The source for job leads, career development and
information for business
communicators*

For more information, e-mail us at:
Info@IABCCleveland.com

Or see us on the web at:
IABC.com or IABCCleveland.com

International Association of Business Communicators

You're Invited...

As a student pursuing a degree in one of the related areas of business communication, we think you will find that IABC has the resources you need now to advance in your future career. No matter where your communication career takes you, IABC is right there with you through the activities of IABC/Cleveland, our regional district and the support of a world headquarters staff.

As an IABC member:

- You will interact, work with, and learn from area professionals through internships, mentoring, career days, seminars and monthly programs.
- You will be able to keep up with global trends in communication through member publications and the IABC and IABC/Cleveland web sites.

- Your future job outlook will benefit from the contacts you make with communication professionals in Cleveland as well as at the district, national and international levels.

Benefits for Student Members

- Communication World magazine, nine monthly issues from September through May presenting issues and trends important to communicators
- Member rates on IABC publications
- Discounted student rate to attend the IABC International Conference
- Monthly IABC/Cleveland luncheon meeting and presentation on communication topic at $16 discounted rate
- Opportunity to explore career options in business communication
- Access to members only sections of IABC and IABC/Cleveland web sites, including Career Builder and CW Online
- Member rates at IABC and IABC/Cleveland sponsored seminars and workshops

Student Membership Dues

- International dues of U.S. $35 per year.
- 50% off international membership dues and exemption from the application fee if you join IABC as a practitioner within one year of graduation.
- No IABC/Cleveland dues.

Who is an IABC student member?

Membership is open to part-time or full-time students of colleges or universities and other educational institutions who are working towards a degree and who are not currently working in the organizational communication profession.

International Association of
Business Communicators

For more information, e-mail us at:
Info@IABCCleveland.com

Or see us on the web at:
IABC.com or IABCCleveland.com