Films are powerful vehicles of cultural story telling. They reveal how we understand our world and ourselves. For many, films also subtly influence the way we think about and respond to such life-shaping issues as race, gender, religion, and sexuality. This course will explore the complex ways films present narratives and images about religion, race, gender and sexuality. Students will learn how to critically interrogate and deconstruct the various ways films suggest particular meanings about these potent issues. The structure of the course will be significantly dialogical, involving critical discussion of selected films and reading materials. Students will be required to do weekly writing assignments that critically analyze the films in relation.	3	01:00PM-03:00PM	TTH	MART	316	J. Gordon
REL-393-S01	Sem:Quest/Historical Jesus Preq: One Religion course. In a sense, people have always been looking for the "real" Jesus, but the modern, critical, academic "quest for the historical Jesus" began in the late 1700s. The most highly publicized recent version of this quest has been the "Jesus Seminar," a group of biblical scholars who have debated "what did Jesus really say?" and "what did Jesus really do?" Our seminar will study the conclusions of the Jesus Seminar about the authentic words and deeds of Jesus, and as we do that, we will also be developing a deep acquaintance with the five most important ancient sources for understanding who Jesus really was: the Gospels of Mark, Matthew, Luke, John and Thomas.	3	01:00PM-02:15PM	MW	MART	315	R.
