

Baldwin-Wallace College: May Term 2011 Course Schedule

Academic Calendar Link

This document was last updated: September 20, 2011, 12:13:40 AM (EDT)

Biology Weekend Division - Semester

BIO-200IEL-M01	Sem: Biology of Iceland	4	06:15PM-07:05PM	W	TELF	212	R. Stanton
Core Academic Skill: CT                  Core Academic Skill: QL                  This innovative 10-day trip to Iceland, led by Drs. C. Stanton (Biology) and J. Fleisher (Sociology), will investigate connections between the biology, geology, and culture of this unique island in the North Atlantic. Application and non-refundable deposit are due on November 1, 2010. There will be mandatory class meetings each week during the spring semester. Departure May 10; return May 19, 2011. MUST REGISTER THROUGH EXPLORATIONS OFFICE.

English Day Division - Semester

ENG-463IE-M01	England/Ireland -16th Century	4	05:00PM-06:05PM	M	MART	104	S. Oldrieve
A study of Tudor literature about and from Ireland. We will explore how works of Spenser, Shakespeare, Raleigh and Irish bardic poets such as Tomas O'Huiginn try to make sense of the colonial situation in Ireland, commenting both on its personal impact, on its politics, and shaping the social reactions to it of its day and of the centuries to come. Mini-B lectures and a required travel component to London and Cork, May 11-31. MUST REGISTER THROUGH EXPLORATIONS OFFICE. Preq: Completion of LAS-150 or LAS-200. In addition students must have completed one or more related courses (see Explorations for details) or have permission of the instructor.

History Day Division - Semester

HIS-463IE-M01	England/Ireland - 16th Century	4	05:00PM-06:05PM	M	MART	104	C. Evans
A study of the relationship between England and Ireland in the 16th century with a focus on Irish colonialism, Tudor court values, the rise of the "new men," Tudor defenses, and other areas reflective of Tudor culture (religion, society, architecture, etc.). PREQ: Completion of one or more of the following courses, or permission of the instructor: HIS-1211 History of Europe I; HIS-313I Renaissance and Reformation; HIS-348I Tudor Stuart England. Mini-B lectures and a required travel component to England and Ireland, May 10-31, 2011. Travel portion of the class takes place during May Term, 2011. MUST REGISTER THROUGH EXPLORATIONS OFFICE.

History Evening Division - Semester

HIS-463IE-ME1	England/Ireland - 16th Century	4	05:00PM-06:05PM	M	MART	104	C. Evans
A study of the relationship between England and Ireland in the 16th century with a focus on Irish colonialism, Tudor court values, the rise of the "new men," Tudor defenses, and other areas reflective of Tudor culture (religion, society, architecture, etc.). PREQ: Completion of one or more of the following courses, or permission of the instructor: HIS-1211 History of Europe I; HIS-313I Renaissance and Reformation; HIS-348I Tudor Stuart England. Mini-B lectures and a required travel component to England and Ireland, May 10-31, 2011. Travel portion of the class takes place during May Term, 2011. MUST REGISTER THROUGH EXPLORATIONS OFFICE.							